Interactive educational workshops designed to stimulate creativity

LAFUNNYGIRL EDUTAINMENT Proudly presents...

An Interactive and Educational workshop designed to stimulate, motivate, team build and enhance organizational productivity.

Today's organizations are constantly looking for ways to motivate and stimulate their employees. Any successful organization knows employees are a direct reflection of the company for which they work. By adding humour to the workplace you can build team spirit, increase productivity and stimulate creativity. Humour has also been proven to reduce sick leave and stress.

This half-day session will provide your organization with some basic humour techniques to use at meetings, presentations, or in your day-to-day routine. It will provide some insight into how to recognize what makes people laugh and why.

So let the fun begin!

Here's what you have to play with.
These workshops can be tailored to your needs.
Choose from half-day and full-day formats!

Humour Workshop

Set the stage for team building and inspire both a regeneration of excitement and a fresh spirit in your company. Fun and educational - a humour workshop is designed to bring an animated experience that creates a positive work environment. After all "Laughing is cost effective and free!"

True Colours™ Workshop

Learn how to understand people's differences and similarities. Learn how these personality temperaments can compliment each other to build a strong team and increase productivity and communication.

Laughter Workout

Research has shown that laughter increases health. Dr. Kataria's book 'Laugh for No Reason' proves that this series of laughter exercises, done daily with your team, is sure to give everyone a good energy boost. Start your day with an invigorating good mood and a great face lift.
